AI-Powered Shopping Intelligence

Understand What Happens Before the Click.

AI Shopping is changing how consumers discover products. Our platform connects shoppers directly with official company websites while giving businesses visibility into AI-generated traffic, interactions, and purchasing behavior.

AI Shopping Shouldn't Be a Data Blind Spot.

As more consumers use AI to discover and compare products, companies can lose visibility into the customer journey. Our platform helps businesses understand how customers find, interact with, and purchase their products through AI-powered shopping.

Recommended Next Steps

Plain-language actions based on your dashboard data.

Demo example

Complete missing product descriptions

Why it matters:

About 5,420 searches showed competitors more often because their product descriptions were more complete. Fuller descriptions help AI assistants understand and recommend your products.

One action:

Review your top products and add missing details like materials, dimensions, and compatibility.

View related report

Update outdated availability

Why it matters:

Around 3,380 searches reached products currently marked as unavailable on your website. Customers can't buy what isn't in stock.

One action:

Check inventory for products with high impressions and update their availability status.

View related report

Fill gaps in your price ranges

Why it matters:

About 8,240 users searched in price ranges where your company has limited options, sending them to competitors.

One action:

Identify those price ranges in Search Insights and add or highlight matching products.

View related report

Answer common customer questions on product pages

Why it matters:

Top searches like "Affordable laptops for collage" (38,420 asks) show customers want specific guidance before buying.

One action:

Add a short FAQ section to your most-searched product pages answering those questions.
